

Garnishment - Continuing

A garnishment is a proceeding against a third party ("the garnishee"). The garnishee has money or other property belonging to the judgment debtor-defendant. Garnishment is the term of the legal process by which the garnishee pays into court the money, or property, that the garnishee owes to the judgment debtor. (NOTE: Garnishments may be filed only after a judgment has been obtained against the debtor.) A business which has been served with a garnishment affidavit has forty-five (45) days to file an answer. If an answer is not filed within forty-five (45) days, the garnishee (employer or bank) will be in default.
